

Society for Conservation Biology

Colorado Plateau Chapter of the Society for Conservation Biology Membership Form

Being a chapter member means that you are interested in contributing to the conservation of biological diversity on the Colorado Plateau, and that you believe that the biological sciences have a meaningful role to play in the larger issue of planning, implementing, and monitoring conservation activities, human land and resource use, and environmental change.

Being a member does not commit you to any specific role or requirements, but it does announce that you are active and interested in collaborating in efforts to improve scientific and conservation efforts.

Annual dues:

Local Chapter: $10.00

National Membership: $10.00*

*New members are free until December 31, 2007!

Please may checks payable to the Colorado Plateau Chapter of the Society for Conservation Biology.

NAME: _____

ADDRESS: _____

PHONE: _____ FAX: _____

E-MAIL: _____

DATE: _____

The Chapter web site is currently the main source of information on Chapter activities and issues: <http://www2.nau.edu/cpscb-p/>. At this site we have a membership directory, where members' contact information and interests are listed. Do you give us permission to list your name and interests there? Please circle one: YES NO

Please return this form to:

CPC-SCB
PO BOX 1757
Flagstaff, AZ 86002